Since the issuance of Law No. 40 of 2004 on National Social Security System, the political changes contained in it much different from the destination of Indonesia in general, where it was said that the purpose (which is often equated with the ideals) of Indonesia is to establish a fair society and prosper based on Pancasila and the Constitution 1945. This Act fundamentally altered the state's obligation to provide social security into a social insurance obligations. Though social security is clearly different meaning altogether with social insurance Social security is the obligation of the government and the people's rights, whereas in social insurance, the holder of the guarantee or the people as participants have to pay dues or premiums themselves. As for the formulation of research problems in implementation of the National Social Security System in Indonesia, and the Implementation of the Implementation of Health Insurance for the Poor in Bandar Lampung could correspond to country basis as well as laws and regulations that apply as does the implementation of the National Health guarantee.

Data required in the writing a dissertation obtained through library research and field research. Library research done by reading textbooks, legislation, as well as readings related to the study, while the field research obtained through interviews with informants related to the research.

The results showed that, program of National Health Insurance has begun to be implemented and has been running since the beginning of January 2014 in the city of Bandar Lampung. In practice, the health insurance program has not been able to provide quality service and satisfying. understanding of the community is one of the factors that resulted in this government program reap many cases in courts. Some factors is caused by; lack of socialization, lack of monitoring and evaluation of local government, lack of cooperation between the health centers and hospitals. So far the implementation of National Health Insurance and handling of the poor to health services, is starting to show its direction compared with the first implementation. Synchronization and integration do already led, even though fully yet reached perfection. Government policy makers should continue to conduct evaluation to the hospital, should be faster to solve service issues. Health service quality and good performance is a dream for every society, the responsibility of the government to carry out its duties and functions in accordance with the regulations that have been enacted.
